BEAUTIFUL MUSIC AND A LIFE STORY
MORE BEAUTIFUL THAN ANY...

Track 5. (Johann Sebastian Bach) - Sonata for Flute and Continuo in E major BWV-1035

Track 6. When I Dream
Performed by Carol Kidd

Track 7. Cat's Waltz
Chopin s waltz no 4 Op34-3

Track 8. My Way translated arranged by Paul Anka

Emily's flute is called 'Brannen-Cooper' 14K combination, a high quality flute well known to all who are learning how to play the flute. Because the whole thing is hand-made, it can match the player's individuality or character. Also, the fact that its durability is excellent and that it can cast a clear sound makes it a dream flute for all aspiring flutists.

The oboe which Cornelia fixed while taking care of a troublemaking cat is a XL series of 'Howarth' made from rose wood. Howarth is an oboe maker which England is proud of. The rose wood which was used to make the body have a soft color and a warm sound. But it can easily crack and make the life span of the instrument short. it is a sensitive instrument which should be taken with utmost care.

Lambert's instrument is a saxophone named 'Naked Lady 10M' which was made by the America Conn company in 1969. it was made during the time when the company transferred its factory to Mexico. it is also called 'Lady Face' because a picture of a naked lady is engraved on the 10M bell. Another unique feature could be that it is under slung because the pad is positioned underneath and the inside of the neck is a double neck. Because of its unique design, we believe that Cornelia had a hard time repairing it.

In Wan Youn + Sun Hee Kim

A lightning interview of the creators!

Q1. During the early stages of serializing Vibrato, a lot of readers were surprised by the somewhat strange combination of In Wan Youn + Sun Hee Kim How did you two meet and begin working together? And what was the first impression you had of each other?

[Sun Hee Kim] (In short, Kim) Uhm... it was during the time when I was publishing the manuscript of Three Kingdoms of Go and 13 cats when I suddenly got a call from Mr In Wan. He told me that he read Three Kingdoms of Go and offered me a job to work with him... I remember that I was just dazed that time...

[In Wan Youn] (In short, Youn) Actually, the original work of Westwood Vibrato had gone through the hands of a lot of cartoonists. Some declined while others agreed, but was rejected by the editorial department. As I searched for artists for a year, I accidentally stumbled into the Three Kingdoms of Go and after I read it, I figured that this artist could draw Westwood Vibrato amazingly so I gave her a call and both the artist and the editorial department agreed. That was how we began this work together.

Q2. What is the reason behind your choice of having a unique setting, the Republic of South Africa? Did you personally visit this place?

[Youn] This was because the person who became the model for Cornelia actually lives in the Republic of South Africa. He lived in America before he left for South Africa and now he lives there while repairing wind instruments. He is so famous that people from all around the world requests for repairs for their instruments. I found him amazing so I chose him as a model for Cornelia. But then, he is a grandfather, not a beautiful woman. I saw a lot of data and references for the Republic of South Africa, but I haven't been there yet. I had a few opportunities to go, but I couldn't keep the deadline so...

Q3. It is also very unique that the main character is a wind instrument repairer. What is the reason behind it? And do you have an instrument you are especially fond of? Can you play it?

[Kim] Yes!! I'm quite close with... castanets... tambourines...

[Youn] During high school, I played the alto saxophone in a brass band. After I graduated, I still played it from time to time, but I started to become serious with it during the end of Shin Angyo Dnshi/ New Amhanguhsah. Naturally I thought of making a manhwa using wind instruments as its theme and that's how Westwood Vibrato came to be.

Q4. When reading Westwood Vibrato, one can naturally learn good music. What genre do you usually enjoy listening to? If you have a favorite singer or musician, please introduce him to us.

[Kim] I can work well only in complete silence so I couldn't associate well with music ever since I started drawing when I was young. If I listen to music, I tend to drift off while listening, I had to give up music if I wanted to draw.

[Youn] I like cool jazz and funky music, I can't listen to metal. I also like electronic, but my favorite would be saxophone plays. I often listen to the music of Charlie Parker while working.

Q5. At the end of every track the ending credits contain original work, illustrations, planning, color It seems that a lot of people are working together to make this From the first idea or the concept made until entering Naver Webtoon, we are curious about the steps you have taken

[Youn] Westwood Vibrato is worked on by a lot of people There are 3 people in charge of the story part including me and there are more than 5 artists in charge of the historical and background research Including the designer who develops this into a web-toon form and the agency, altogether there are at least more than 10 staff members creating this work

Q6. Tell us the fun parts and the hard parts in creating Vibrato while taking so many steps

[Kim] A difficulty for illustrations could be that since this is an omnibus form, I don't have enough time to get used to the new characters I always think that the character that always exchange conversations, personality, and eye contact can create deeper feelings later on since I'm use to it, but as for omnibus, this isn't the case. It's like an advertisement that hits then falls out so it needs detailed observations... I'm concerned that I might not be catching it properly... The advantage is of course every episode is filled with excitement and curiosity thanks to the appearance of new characters. My heart skips as I read the content given to me And it gets better and better every time so I'm really excited... Haha

[Youn] Historical investigation is the hardest because all the instruments that appear must be ascertained by the professionals I visit the professionals of each instrument to listen to the sound and to record it, then send it to Ms Sun Hee Kim. I am concerned on getting the instruments ascertained, especially those that I have never played, like the trumpet and the flute. I also got ascertained for instrument repairs Japan is more professional in instrument repairs than Korea so I get ascertained in a Japanese instrument repair shop

Q7. When writing or drawing the story, when are the times when it goes well? Vice versa?

[Kim] I do my work best when it's near the deadline... And I don't do well at the start of a new manuscript. As the deadline approaches, I gain immense concentration and start enjoying the manuscript but during the beginning, I want to watch documentaries and use up my time by watching all of the videos used for reference while looking for some reference data It's quite...

[Youn] Compared to my works, New Amhanguhsah or island, Westwood Vibrato is a very soft subject and story even when I write it I sometimes wonder, 'Is this right?' Since I wrote it without any fights and action, it seems a bit dull (laughs) and because I'm so used to writing action manhwa and now that this is all story telling it takes much more time to write down the plot than New Amhanguhsah

Q8. From the 8 episodes of Season 1, which episode did you like the most and which one did you have the hardest time with? Why?

[Kim] I remember My Way because it was the nicest to work on and when I worked on track 7 that had a cat in it, I empathized with it so much that it made me converse with the ones I have in my house as I drew This is because I have seen and am still seeing how many animals lost their owners and were left alone that way so I just couldn't get over it. Track 5 was the hardest. During the scene where the father was dying, I think how Mr In Wan felt and how I thought about it were quite different. I remember that I got worried if my work was going well while I tried hard to find that gap...

[Youn] The My Way part.

Q9. Tell us your favorite character. What's the reason?

[Kim] My eyes go to Kuku the most because I really laugh a lot while drawing him... Personally I think keeping a penguin in a house is abusing it, but since it's a cartoon, it's fun... ^^

[Youn] Cornelia. She's my ideal type. ^^

Q10. When can we see season 2? Please give us a preview!

[Youn] We didn't choose a specific date yet, but it will be around October or November. The preview will be shown so you can look at it and predict the story. ^_^

Q11. When will the published book be released?

[Youn] We are informed that the book will be released around July. It was supposed to come out earlier, but my greediness for releasing the best book possible led to harassing the editorial department in DAEWON C. I. INC. We hope you'll enjoy it. (laughs)

Q12. Lastly, comments for the readers

[Youn] Vibrato is a manhwa that costs a lot for production. That's why even if we serialize in Korea and overseas at the same time, the profit of the writers and artists is always plus minus zero ㅜㅜ. That's why during these times, our only source of strength is the encouragement and comments from you readers! If you like what you read, please recommend it to the people around you... hehe

[Kim] I agree with Mr. Youn, please recommend our manhwa through posting and to your neighbors. We have to be recommended a lot so that we can continue our season 3 and season 4 on webtoon ㅜㅜ

Miss Camille I only found out afterwards that our companions in the base camp were swept away by the avalanche
But Lambert and I had no idea about this as we waited trapped inside the snow hoping to get rescued
9 100 meters above sea level near the first step
Our Everest expedition ended as a failure just like that
Rooney, take a look at this.
Tada!

Don't you find it amusing? The forehead of the sky, which we are dying to conquer
Ah
was once the lowest place of all.
If you think about it,
it may have just been our delusion that the mountain must be conquered by humans...
Huff

When in fact...
the mountain wasn't even interested at all.
This is all my fault.

It was our free choice.

Hey, this isn't like you at all!

It'll stop soon.
Ah...
Let's go down once it's all quiet, Rooney!

Huff

Yeah...
Let's go home, Lambert...
I think... it's safe...
to return to the camp now
Let's go, Lambert.
Rooney... what...
Huff

should I do...?

I can't see.
I think it's snow blindness*
W...What? Seriously?
...It's ok! You can lean on me and we can go down together...
No... Neither of us have energy left.
We'll fall down before we even reach 100 meters.
I'm sorry Rooney... But...
You should go back alone
WHAT ARE YOU TALKING ABOUT!
ARE YOU CRAZY?! I'D RATHER-.
LISTEN TO ME, YOU JERK!
Did I ask you to leave me here?
Go back to the camp and bring a rescue team.

*T/N: Snow blindness occurs when the snow reflects a large amount of ultraviolet rays, causing inflammation and pain in the cornea or the retina, making it hard to open one's eyes

But the camp might have been swept away by the avalanche..
Will you stop jinxing it?
They came here solely because they trust us!
I'm sure everyone is alive and well, waiting for our return.
Now! Bring them here so that I can return as well!
I swear...
I swear I'll come back for you, Lambert.
Here-
Throw
Use that. You might also get hurt, if you don't pay attention.
With this... I've repaid my debt for when you saved my life.
Okay?

Have a safe trip
Jerk!
I swear,
I'll come back and get you.
And now, the end is here

And so I face the final curtain
I did what I had to do
Each careful step along the by way
My friend, I'll say it clear
And more, much more
I'll state my case,
of which I'm certain
Than this, I did it my way

Regrets, I've had a few

WE ARE NOW... MAKING A STRETCHER TO CARRY HIM.
HOW... IS...

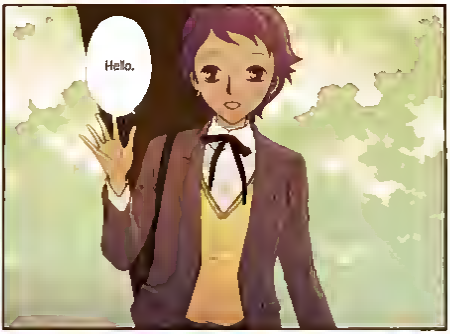
HE...?

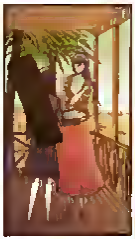
HOW IS LAMBERT?
TELL ME, CHRIS!
There's not really much to say.
He looks so peaceful... like he's just asleep.
Is this really a man from 50 years ago?
Miss Cornelia... Finally...
Finally... I can...

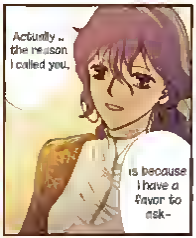
Miss Cornelia



Hello.

Oh- hi, Winnie!
Haha, now that you're in high school, you've matured!
Hehe.
How are the villagers?
They're doing great.





Actually .. the reason I called you,
is because I have a favor to ask-

Oh?
It's snowing.
You're right.
Wow, it's snow.
There's going to be a lot.
SIR, YOU SHOULDN'T BE OUT HERE.
SIR.

It's going to take 20 minutes to reach the camp.
Mr. Lambert is safe and sound so don't worry and just wait for us.
dir?

I swear...
I will come back for you, Lambert.

All right, I get it so hurry up and go back.
Use the goggles too.
Rooney!
During our senior year... do you remember Rang Rang?
The girl with black hair that reached her waist...
The only girl you were interested in.
I know this is a late confession, but...
I had my eyes on her as well. Hihi.
We emptied 2 bottles of bumbo together.
And using that chance I was going to kiss her...
But then my nose...
She bit my nose... right here

I was lying when I said I got this when climbing up a mountain alone.
This is actually a scar for touching your girl, haha..
I wanted to apologize
If given the chance..
Block-head...
Hehe-hehe.
.....
I'm sorry, Lambert.
Are you going to keep talking nonsense?
You're going to come back soon anyway
Promise me
that you're going to go back alive.

I promise.
I'll wait for you alive...
Don't worry, Jerk.
Until you come back...
I'll be waiting for you with my eyes open,
right here on this mountain.
Careful, Jerk!
I will— come back for you.

Ah! Grand-pa?
I told you to wait inside, not way out here.
The body... Mr. Lambert's legs couldn't be straightened so we couldn't put him in the stretcher.
We didn't have a choice so we just moved him
Ah.
Ah...
Ah.
Ah.

AAARGH!!

AARGH!
...
All right, I under-stand.

Grandpa... there's something I should tell you...
It will take about 5 hours to bring the body to the camp across the south cliff.
But according to the radio receiver in the base camp, there might be a blizzard coming in an hour.
So as of now .
it is impossible to bring back Mr Lambert's body...
Whoosh
Miss Cornelia ! I fear that,
I may not be able to bring him back home.

Eventually we decided
All right, please begin.
Ok!
We decided...
To bury him in a part in Mt. Everest where the sun rises the fastest.
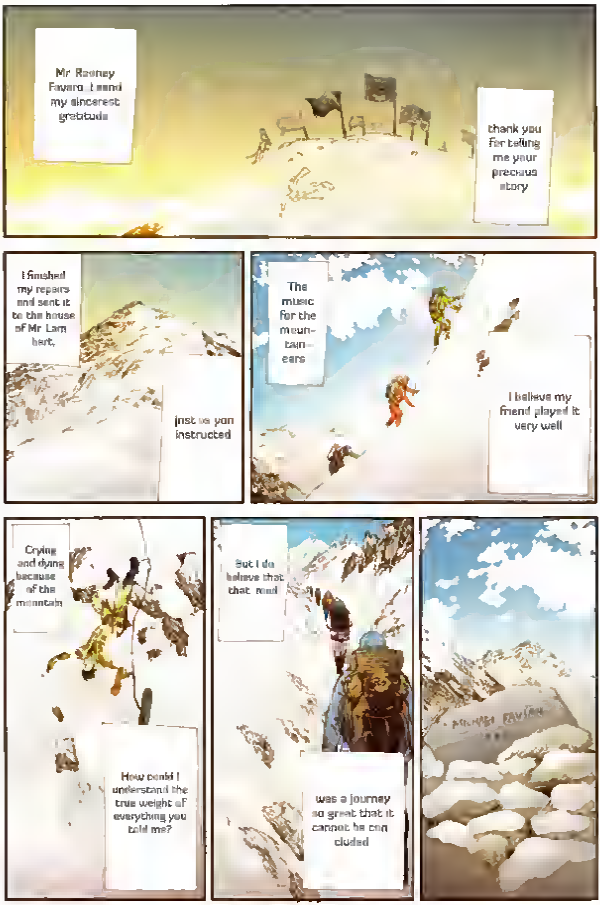
I believe that this part will receive the warmest sunlight when the sun rises.
Miss Cornelia, though this may be rude of me,
I want to ask you a favor

If you're done repairing the instrument,
Would you use it to play
<My Way>
for the mountaineers?



Mr Rainey Favaro. I send my sincerest gratitude thank you for telling me your precious story
I finished my repairs and sent it to the house of Mr Lam hart.
just as you instructed
The music for the moun-tain-eers
I believe my friend played it very well
Crying and dying because of the mountain
How could I understand the true weight of everything you told me?
But I do believe that that mind was a journey so great that it cannot be con cluded

By the way

Voyager 1 has completely departed Pluto's orbit.
It is confirmed that the mission of Voyager 1 is now over.
Clap
Good job everyone.
Good job everyone.
Good job, Voyager 1
Now, only your last mission is left.
I hope that you'll be able to tell our friends outside our universe, the sound of Earth inside you.
Good luck in your long journey,
Voyager 1.

Hello, people of the universe.

Swaaa
And now, the end is here ...
And so I face the final curtain

My friend, I'll say it clear
I'll state my case, of which I'm certain
And more, much more
Than this, I did it my way

Reading Westwood Vibrato is always like watching a well made movie. This chapter is especially heart touching. The joy and sadness of mountaineers and the roads they have taken seems like questioning the road which I, who is now middle aged, have taken. I would really like to recommend this to the middle aged of this generation who have silently walked on their own path. I hope this becomes a movie.
